- Working as a private trader within Web Design & -Development has taught me more than any other experience to date. Due to the nature of the industry, I am forced to constantly seek new customers and there is no room left for failure since my references are my only selling point. Time management becomes crucial in order to keep work efficient and lucrative, at the same time as projects can't be carried out with strict routine since works of creativity need to be original every time. The constant press of other competitors makes me have to stay competitive by actively following trends and keeping my image modern and appealing. Although having founded my company only in 2009, I have experience in the field since 2006.
